

To see something others don't

Some people see patterns others don't.

*Most people think it's only real,
when others can see the pattern*

*This is what social constructivism is about:
"to socially construct the world around us"
Humans are a social species after all!*

*But the objective world is not democratic,
since you can't vote gravity away!*

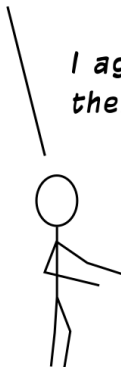

*True, a magician is a good proof:
just because a group of people
see it, doesn't make it real.*

An alternative is to reproduce a pattern.

I agree, if something can be reproduced, then it can be predicted and prepared for.

One day people will notice you have control over something that they don't.

And that day you will inspire them!

